

Chapter 7

In dedication of the Tabernacle, the princes of the twelue tribes offer iointly fix waines, and twelue oxen. 11. Then euerie prince feveral daies make other oblations. 89. And God fpeaketh to Moyfes from the Propitiatorie.

And it came to paffe in the day that Moyfes finished the tabernacle, and erected it: he anoynted also and sanctified it with al the veffel therof, the altar likewise and al the veffel therof. <sup>2</sup>The princes of Ifrael and the heades of the families, that were in euerie tribe, and the rulers of them, that had bene numbered, offered <sup>3</sup>giftes before our Lord fix waines couered, with twelue oxen. Two princes offered one waine, and euerie man one oxe and they offered them before the tabernacle. <sup>4</sup>And our Lord faid to Moyfes: <sup>5</sup>Take them of their handes to ferue in the minifterie of the tabernacle, and thou shalt deliuer them to the Leuites according to the order of their minifterie. <sup>6</sup>When Moyfes therefore had taken the waines and the oxen, he deliuered them to the Leuites. <sup>7</sup>Two waines and foure oxen he gaue to the fonnes of Gerfon, according to that which was necessarrie for them. <sup>8</sup>The other foure waines, and the eight oxen he gaue to the fonnes of Merari according to their offices and seruice, vnder the hand of Ithamar the sonne of Aaron the priest. <sup>9</sup>But to the fonnes of Caath he gaue not waines and oxen: because they ferue in the sanctuarie, and carie their burdens <sup>a</sup>)vpon their owne shoulders. <sup>10</sup>The princes therefore offered vnto the dedication of the altar, the daie wherein it was anoynted, their oblation before the altar. <sup>11</sup>And our Lord faid to Moyfes: Let the princes one and one euerie day offer their giftes vnto the dedication of the altar. <sup>12</sup>The first day Nahaffon the sonne of Aminadab of the tribe of Iuda offered his oblation: <sup>13</sup>and there were in it a filuer plate of an hundred and thirtie ficles weight, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles according to the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flower tempered with oyle for a facrifice: <sup>14</sup> a litle mortar of ten ficles of gold ful of incenfe: <sup>15</sup> an oxe out of the hearde, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauft: <sup>16</sup> and a bucke goat for finne: <sup>17</sup> and for a facrifice of pacifiques, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This is the oblation of Nahaffon the fonne of Aminidab. <sup>18</sup> The fecond day offered Nathanael the fonne of Suar, prince of the tribe of Iffachar, <sup>19</sup> a plate of filuer weying an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles, according to the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oile for a facrifice: <sup>20</sup> a litle mortar of gold hauing ten ficles ful of incenfe: <sup>21</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauft: <sup>22</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>23</sup> and for a facrifice of pacifiques, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Nathanael the fonne of Suar. <sup>24</sup> The third day the prince of the fonnes of Zabulon Eliab the fonne of Helon, <sup>25</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flower tempered with oyle for a facrifice: <sup>26</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incenfe: <sup>27</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauft: <sup>28</sup> and a bucke-goate for finne, <sup>29</sup> and for a facrifice of pacifiques, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This is the oblation of Eliab the fonne of Helon. <sup>30</sup> The fourth day the prince of the fonnes of Ruben, Elifur the fonne of Sedeur, <sup>31</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flower tempered with oile for a facrifice: <sup>32</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incenfe: <sup>33</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old, for an holocauft: <sup>34</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>35</sup> and for pacifiques hoftes two oxen, fiue rammes, five bucke goates, five lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Elifur the sonne of Sedeur. <sup>36</sup> The fifth day the prince of the sonnes of Simeon Salamiel the sonne of Surifaddai, <sup>37</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oile for a sacrifice: <sup>38</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incense: <sup>39</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauste: <sup>40</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>41</sup> and for pacifique hostes, two oxen, five rammes, five bucke goates, five lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Salamiel the sonne of Surifaddai. <sup>42</sup> The sixt day the prince of the sonnes of Gad, Eliafaph the sonne of Duel <sup>43</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing a hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oyle for a sacrifice: <sup>44</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incense: <sup>45</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, & a lambe of a yeare old for an holocaust: <sup>46</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>47</sup> and for pacifique hostes, two oxen, five rammes, five bucke goates, five lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Eliafaph the sonne of Duel. <sup>48</sup> The feuenth day the prince of the sonnes of Ephraim, Elifama the sonne of Ammiud <sup>49</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing a hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oile for a sacrifice: <sup>50</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incense: <sup>51</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocaust: <sup>52</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>53</sup> and for pacifique hostes, two oxen, five rammes, five bucke goates, five lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Elifama the sonne of Ammiud. <sup>54</sup> The eight day the prince of the sonnes of Manaffes, Gamaliel the sonne of Phadaffur, <sup>55</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oile for a sacrifice: <sup>56</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles, ful of incense:

---

<sup>a</sup> Of great reuerence they caried the arke, and propitiatorie, and the holie veffel ordinarily vpon their shoulers, yet the same were fonetimes caried on waines. 2. Reg. 6.

<sup>57</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauft: <sup>58</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>59</sup> and for pacifique hoftes, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Gamaliel the fonne of Phadaffur. <sup>60</sup> The ninth day the prince of the fonnes of Beniamin, Abidan the fonne of Gedeon, <sup>61</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flower tempered with oile for a facrifice: <sup>62</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incense: <sup>63</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauft: <sup>64</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>65</sup> and for pacifique hoftes, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Abidan the fonne of Gedeon. <sup>66</sup> The tenth day the prince of the fonnes of Dan, Ahiezer the fonne of Ammifaddai <sup>67</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles, after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oile for a facrifice: <sup>68</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incense: <sup>69</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauft: <sup>70</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>71</sup> and for pacifique hoftes, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Ahiezer the fonne of Ammifaddai. <sup>72</sup> The eleuenth day the prince of the fonnes of Afer, Phegiel the fonne of Ochran <sup>73</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oile for a facrifice: <sup>74</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles ful of incense: <sup>75</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocauft: <sup>76</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>77</sup> and for pacifique hoftes, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Phegiel the fonne of Ochran. <sup>78</sup> The twelfth day the prince of the fonnes of Nephthali, Ahira the fonne of Enan <sup>79</sup> offered a plate of filuer weighing an hundred

thirtie ficles, a phial of filuer hauing feuentie ficles after the weight of the Sanctuarie, both ful of flowre tempered with oile for a sacrifice: <sup>80</sup> a litle mortar of gold weighing ten ficles, ful of incense: <sup>81</sup> an oxe out of the heard, and a ramme, and a lambe of a yeare old for an holocaust: <sup>82</sup> and a bucke goate for finne: <sup>83</sup> and for pacifique hostes, two oxen, fiue rammes, fiue bucke goates, fiue lambes of a yeare old. This was the oblation of Ahira the fonne of Enan. <sup>84</sup> These things were offered of the princes of Ifrael in the dedication of the altar, in the day wherin it was consecrated: plates of filuer twelue: phials of filuer twelue: litle morters of gold twelue: <sup>85</sup> so that one plate had an hundred and thirtie ficles of filuer, and one phial had feuentie ficles: that is, in the whole of al the vessell of filuer two thousand foure hundred ficles, by the weight of the Sanctuarie: <sup>86</sup> litle morters of gold twelue ful of incense weighing ten ficles a peece, by the weight of the Sanctuarie: that is, in the whole an hundred twentie ficles of gold: <sup>87</sup> oxen out of the heard for an holocaust twelue, rammes twelue, lambes of a yeare old twelue, and their libamentes: twelue bucke goates for finne. <sup>88</sup> For pacifique hostes, oxen twentie fowre, rammes fixtie, bucke goates fixtie, lambes of a yeare old fixtie. These things were offered in the dedication of the altar, when it was anointed. <sup>89</sup> And when Moyfes entred into the tabernacle of couenant, to consult the oracle, he heard the voice of him that spake to him from the propitiatorie, that was ouer the arke between the two Cherubs, from whence also he spake to him.