

Psalm 91

God is by all manner of voices and instruments to be praised in his admirable works: 7. which the foolish not doing are punished; 11. and the wise are rewarded.

The works of God admirable.
The 2. key.

A Psalm ^{a)}of Canticle, ^{b)}in the sabbath day.

It is good ^{c)}to confesse to our Lord; and to sing to thy name ^{d)}ô Higheft.

³ To shew forth thy mercie in ^{d)}the morning: and thy truth in ^{e)}the night.

⁴ In ^{f)}the instrument of tenstrings, in ^{g)}Pfalter: with Canticle, on ^{h)}the Harpe.

⁵ Because thou hast delighted me ⁱ⁾ô Lord in thy workmanship: and in the works of thy handes I will reioyce.

⁶ How are thy works magnified ^{j)}ô Lord! thy cogitations are made very profounde.

⁷ The ^{k)}vnwife man wil not know; and the ^{l)}foole wil not vnderstand these things.

⁸ When finners shall spring vp as graffe: and all that worke iniquitie shall appeare.

That they may perish for euer: ^{m)}but thou the Higheft forever ⁿ⁾ô Lord.

¹⁰ Because loe thine enemies ^{o)}ô Lord, because loe thine enemies shall perish: and all that worke iniquitie shall be disperfed.

^a Voices beginning instrumentes prosecute this song.

^b When we rest from worke then especially we ought to thinke vpon Gods works, praise and thanke him for the same.

^c To geue thanks.

^d In prosperitie,

^e in aduersitie.

^f On euery instrument of tenne strings, signifying the obseruation of the tenne commandments:

^g namely on the Pfalter.

^h Also on the harpe, which signifieth mortification.

ⁱ Carnal and sensual man,

^j he that thinketh only of present things, not of future.

¹¹ And ^{a)}my horne shal be exalted, as the vnicorns:
^{b)}and my old age in plentiful mercie.

¹² And ^{c)}mine eie hath looked vpon mine enimies:
and the malignant ryfing vp againft me, mine ears shal heare.

¹³ The iuft, shal florish as a palme tree: as the ceder of Libanus shal he be multiplied.

¹⁴ They that are planted in ^{d)}the houle of our Lord, shal florish in ^{e)}the courtes of the houle of our God.

¹⁵ As yet shal they be multiplied in plentiful old age: and they shal be wel affected, ¹⁶ that they ^{f)}may shew forth:

That the Lord our God is righteous, and there is no iniquitie in him.

^a The iuft in confidence of a good conscience, expect exaltation of their powre:

^b and great consolation in the end of their life.

^c The shal the iuft see their enimies deprefsed: and themfelues florish, like the palme, and ceder trees as folovveth.

^d Militant Church:

^e triumphant.

^f Publikly professe Gods praifes, as in the wordes folowing:
