Alleluia.

Confesse ye to our Lord, and inuocate his name:
^{b)}shew forth his workes among the Gentiles.
²Chaunt to him, and fing to him: tel ye al his meruelous workes.

For an expofition of this Pfalme read the places quoted in the inner margen.

³Prayfe ye him in his holie name: let the hart of them reioice that feeke our Lord.

⁴Seeke ye our Lord, and be confirmed: feeke ^{c)}his face alwayes.

⁵Remember ye his meruelous workes, which he hath done: his wonders, and the iudgments of his mouth.

⁶The feede of Abraham, his feruantes: the children of Iacob his elect.

^a Alleluia fignifieth more then Laudate Dominum, Praife ye our Lord. For by thefe two hebrew wordes, Alleluia, the Prophet inuitheth al men to praife God, with gladnes, and iubilation, with hart, voice, and gefture, with inffruments, and howfoeuer we are able. And therfore S. Ierom, S. Auguftin, and al Catholique writers kepe the fame worde, and tranfflate it not, neither in the titles of Pfalmes, nor ordinarily in anie place of holie Scripture. This is the firft Pfalme thus titled, and is the fame Pfalme in fenfe, and in good part of the wordes, which the royal Prophet made, and caufed to be fongue, when he brought the Arke of God from the houfe of Obededom into his owne houfe. 1. ^a May it be vnderftood, or beleued (faith S. Auguftin) that God turneth the hart of man to committe finnes? Or is it no finne, or is it a fmal finne, to hate the people of God? Or to worke guile towards his feruants? VVho wil fay this? VVhat then, is God author of thefe fo greuous finnes, who is not to be fupposed the author of a moft fmal finne? This lerned Father therefore anfwereth, that God peruerter not a right hart, but turned that was of it felfe peruerfe, to the hatred of his people, where he might vfe that euil wil, not by making them euil, but by beftowing vpon his owne people good thinges, which the euil might eafily enuie.
VVhich hatred of theirs how God vfed both to the exercife of his people (which is profitable to vs) & to the glorie of his owne name, the thinges that folow do teach vs, which are here remembred to his praife.
